What's a chronicle ?

A chronicle is a mini-album.
Each series of photos/videos is linked to a specific theme.
Your photo library is organized into chronicles, for clear and logical browsing.

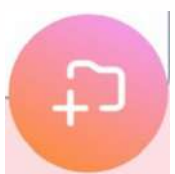

Step 1 – Create an album before taking a photo

You have two options :

Express creation

- Press the camera button
- A numbered album is created (e.g. : Express album no. 4)
- You can modify it later from the detailed file.

Création complète

- Press the camera button
- or
- Press the pink stories button  at the bottom right of the page
- Choose a name, a theme, a category...

Find a wide range of categories in the app.

Step 2 – Select your chronicle

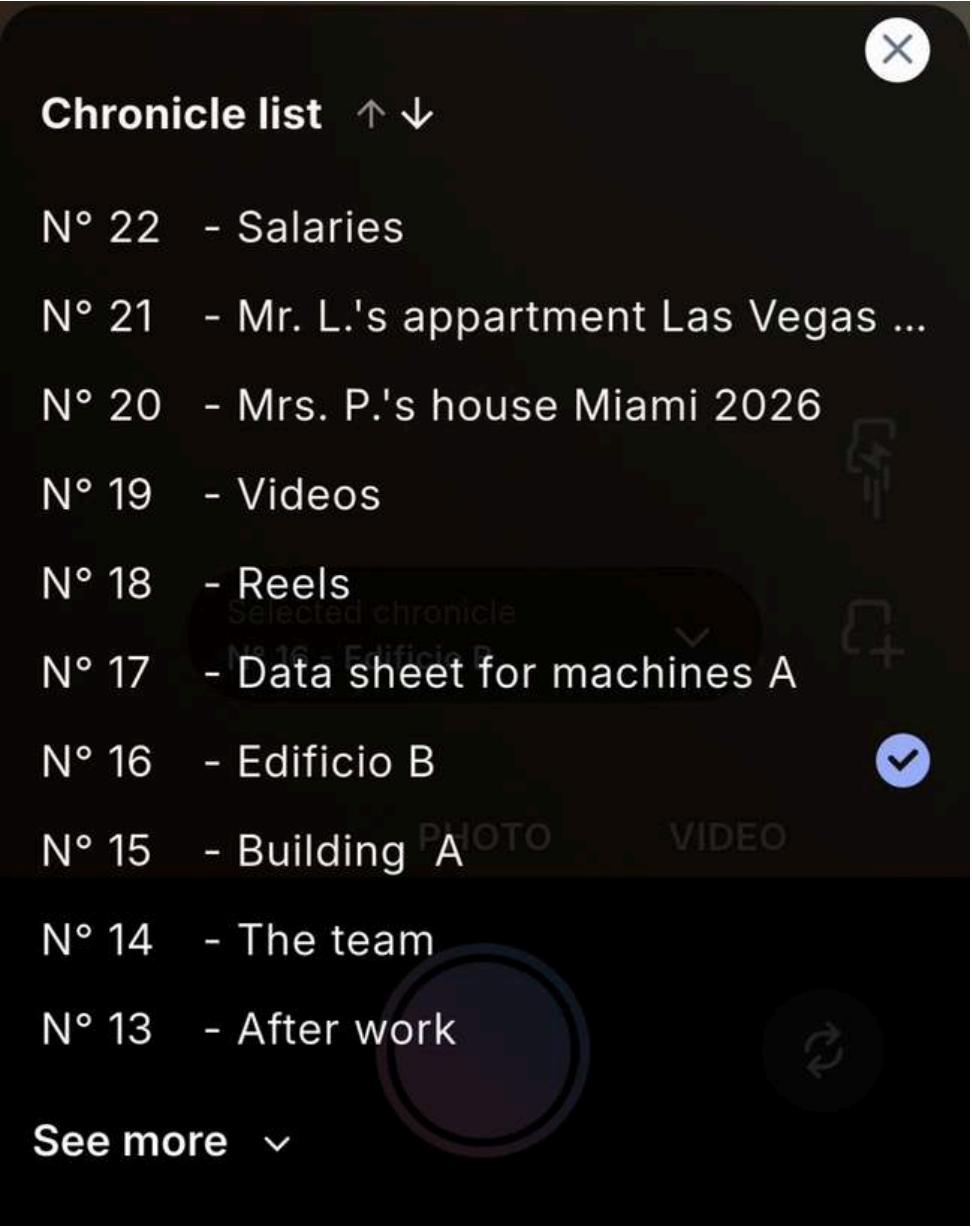

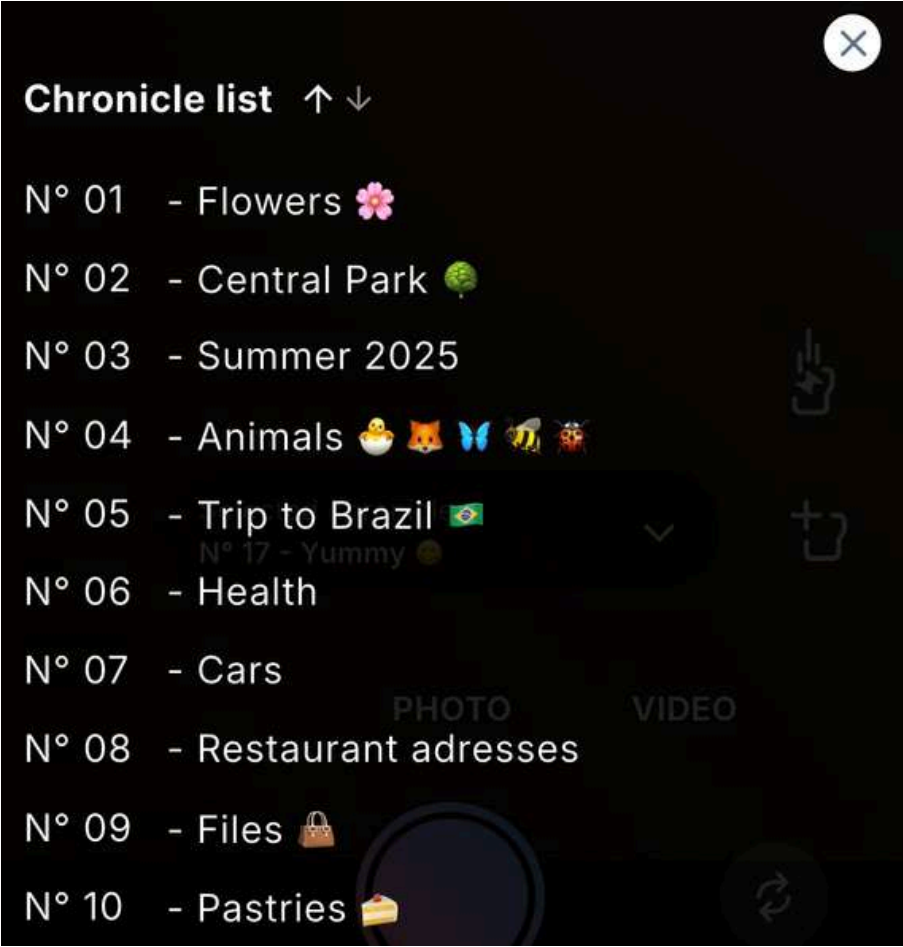

Before each shot, choose a chronicle.

Manual selection

Once you have created your chronicles, you can select them very easily :

From the Camera page

→ A drop-down menu is located just above the shutter button.

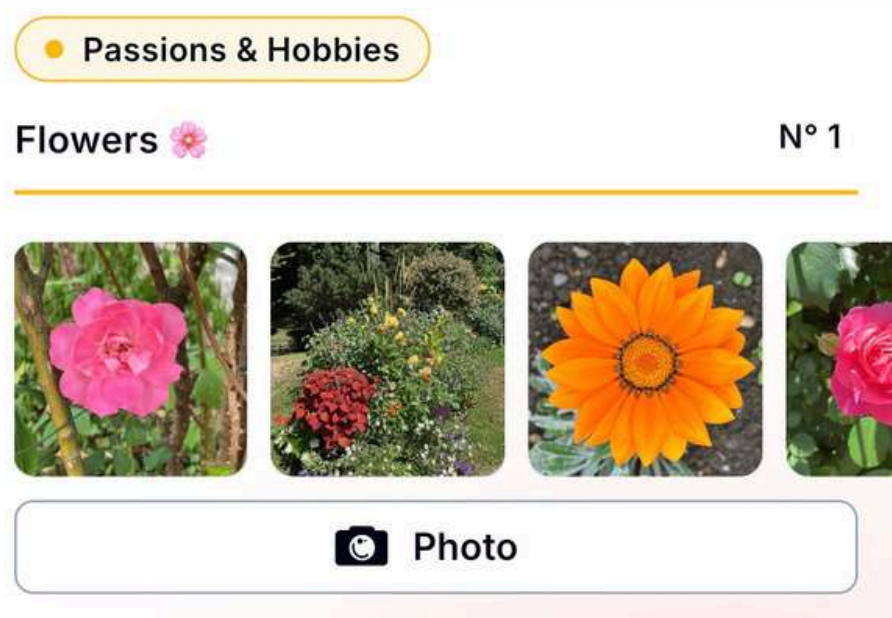

→ Find all your stories, displayed in chronological order with the option to choose the display order.

Simply choose one to start capturing your memories.

From the Chronicles page

- You can access the complete list of your chronicles.
 - Under each one, a pictogram  allows you to open the camera directly with that chronicle activated.
- With one click, you're ready to shoot in the right chronicle.

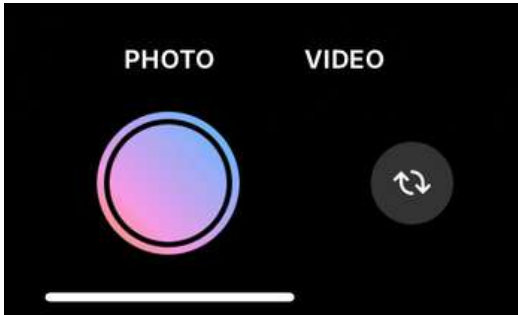

Automatic selection

Biclic thinks of everything :

- The last chronicle used remains automatically selected.
- As long as you don't change it, you can take several photos or videos in a row without touching anything.

- What if you've scheduled a shot?
 - When you confirm the reminder notification, Biclic automatically opens the camera with the right chronicle already selected.

All you have to do is shoot !

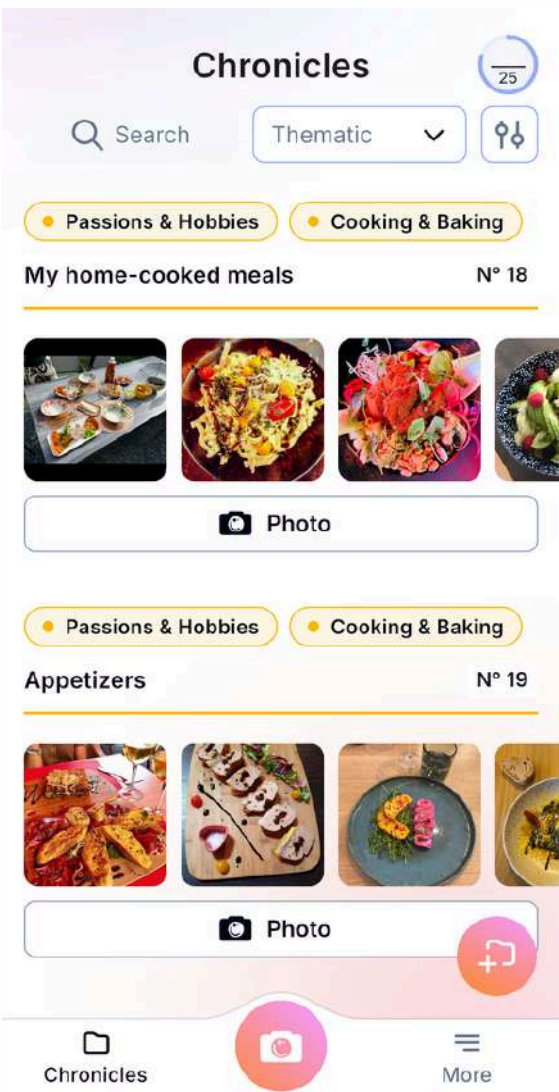

Step 3 – Access your smart photo library

- The Biclic photo library is automatically organized into chronicles.
- Each chronicle corresponds to a series of photos or videos on a theme that you have defined :
- a visual journal, a creative project, an event, a construction site, a trip... or anything else you want to document.

At Biclic, these themed series are called chronicles.

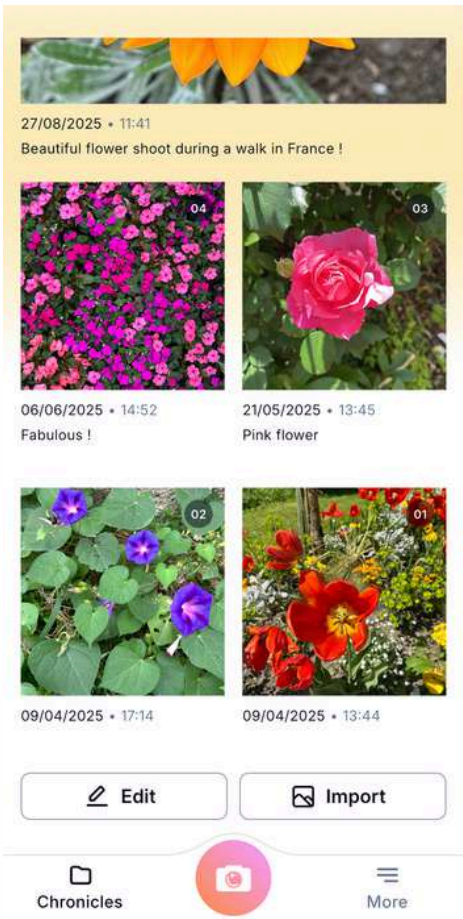

On the Chronicles page, you can find all your series :

- Classified and sorted by chronological order, date, name, number
- Grouped by theme and category associated with a specific color, so you can find what you're looking for in the blink of an eye.
- Presented in the form of thumbnails displaying the last 6 shots.

By clicking on a chronicle, you can access its detailed file :

- All shots are automatically listed and numbered
- You can view them in ascending or descending order using the double arrows, or scroll through them in a slideshow
- Import an image from another gallery
- Edit the chronicle
- Share, move, or delete your shots : long-click on a thumbnail and select the corresponding icon
- Leave a note or caption

Step 4 – Schedule your shots

You can schedule photo/video notifications when creating or editing a story.

Simple steps :

1. Enable notifications in the chronicle options
2. Choose the frequency of shots :
→ Daily, weekly, monthly, etc.
3. Specify the desired time for each reminder
4. Confirm and save

At the set time, you will receive an alert directly on your mobile : It's time to click !

Schedule up to 3 different notifications for each chronicle.
Perfect for following rituals or capturing the progress of a project !

Example :

Chronicle “My Lunches & Dinners”

- 1st notification : every day at 12:15 p.m.
- 2nd notification : every day at 8:30 p.m.

Let’s go !

Create, capture, organize...

It’s Logic. It’s Magic. It’s Biclic.

Need inspiration ?

Here are some ideas !

I make a video of my children every morning at breakfast.

I write a blog post every time I go away for the weekend.

I schedule a photo of myself every morning when I wake up.

I've decided to grow a beard to impress my neighbor. I've scheduled a photo every day on the Biclic calendar. I can quickly see the different stages of my appearance.

I'm writing a column to track the growth of the tomatoes in my garden.

A column for each of my projects !

I schedule a photo shoot of a painting I'm working on so I can see all the stages.

I start a chronicle called “My prescriptions” so I can find them easily.

I'm a wildlife reporter, and I recently created “Report on European beavers.”

I'm creating a journal called “Weight loss.”

Next goal : an Apollo-like body for this summer in Miami.

I'm starting a series called “Big party at Nico's,” with an hourly alert to take group photos.
